McFarland's BURGLAR and FIRE PROOF SAFES!

THE undersigned would respectfully call the attention of the public to the above unequalled safeguard of property against the devouring element of fire, as well as the most skillful burglar. To MERCHANTS, JEWELLERS, and BANK DIRECTORS, we would only say, examine them and the proofs, and you will be convinced of their superiority over all other manufactures.

Our business is done in a plain, straightforward way, without resorting to humbug or large talk. Below is one of the many testimonials we are constantly receiving from all parts of this country, and which speaks for itself. Messrs. Jones & Hitchcock's Office was situated directly under the Leader Hotel, and was totally burned in that great fire on August 23d.

NEW YORK, Aug 29, 1853.

Messrs. Wm. McFarland & Co.

Gents—It affords ample pleasure to inform you that the Fire and Burglar Proof Safe we purchased of you passed through the late conflagration in this city in the Leader Hotel, and was totally consumed, yet the contents were found in good order, and we have no hesitation in saying that there is no Safe in the market that we would place more confidence in than yours. Yours, respectfully,

JONES & HITCHCOCK.

Admirable Invention!

PATENT SELF HEATING

SMOOTHING IRON!

MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century, relieving and facilitating the labor of men by machinery and other modern contrivances; but no improvement has been made in the perfection of the old fashioned Smoothing Iron, which will relieve the mass a very great degree, from the excessive and fatiguing labor of Ironing, besides being a great saving of time and expense. This Iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor, and despatch, to a degree worthy of any charcoal suppositious which ever did constant ironing. Hard wood coal from the store will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room in the house. Heaters and Tailors Irons are constructed upon the same principle, and possess equal superiority.

SEYMOUR'S GALVANIC

ABDOMINAL SUPPORTER.

THIS apparatus possesses all the mechanical advantages of the Abdominal Supporter now in use, and also some valuable improvements besides the galvanic attachment. It has been tested, approved of, and universally adopted in the practice of all the leading Physicians in New York, Boston, and all other places where introduced, in the treatment of all Nervous diseases which exhibit themselves under so many different heads, and particularly in the cure of Uterine difficulties. The beneficial results which have uniformly attended the use of this instrument are a sufficient guarantee of its utility and general application. The advantages of this over other Supporters are, it cures by its Galvanic action, presents a smooth surface that does not retain heat or impurities which pass from the system, and can be kept pure and healthful.

The attention of the medical profession is respectfully solicited to an examination and test of the instrument. The above Supporters are for sale by GEO. W. EMERSON, Druggist, No 4 Smith's Block, sole agent for Bangor and vicinity.

Horrible Tale of Suffering.

By the last mails from Santa Fe were received the details of Mrs. Jane Adeline Wilson's captivity and escape from the Comanche Indians, which has been before referred to. The outrages committed by the Camanches upon this lady equal, if not surpass, the barbarities so frequent in our earliest Indian history. Mrs. Wilson having reached Santa Fe, was received by Gov. Meriwether, and a narration of her sufferings was prepared by two gentlemen, as related by herself.

From Mrs. Wilson's narrative, it appears that she is but seventeen years of age. About a year ago she was married to a young farmer in Texas, and in April they joined a party of fifty-two emigrants bound for California. They were attacked by Indians, and the party was compelled to return to Texas; but Mr. and Mrs. Wilson remained at El Paso, where their horses being stolen, they were compelled also to give up the plan of going to California, and set out on their return to Texas in July. In August Mr. Wilson and his father fell into the hands of Indians, and were murdered. Mrs. Wilson remained at El Paso, and again in September started for Texas, with her three brothers-in-law, and a small party. When within three day's journey of Phantom Hill, an American military post, they were attacked by Camanches, while some of their men were off in pursuit of some of their horses, which had been stolen. A Mexican who was with Mrs. Wilson was brutally murdered and scalped before her eyes, and she and her two brothers-in-law, lads of 12 and 10 years, were bound, and carried off, with the entire property of the party.

The Indians, with their captives, took a northeast direction, each being appropriated as the property of one or other of the chiefs. Stripped of nearly all their clothes, they were subjected to every cruelty and indignity which the malice of their captors could invent. We copy from Mrs. Wilson's narrative:

"I had a fine head of hair, which I valued very much, but the chief ordered it to be cut off; I was not a little mortified in seeing it decorating the heads of the heathen savages. My head was thus left entirely unprotected from the intensely hot rays of the sun.

Nothing of interest occurred except repeated acts of inhumanity toward me, until the twelfth day after my capture. At this time we were joined by two Indians and a squaw. These were all the Indians I saw till after my escape. Up to this time my suffering had been so severe as to take from me the desire to live, but now they were greatly increased. The squaw, from whom I thought have expected some compassion, was evidently the cause of the new cruelties which I now began to experience.

My horse was taken from me, and I was mounted on an unbroken mule without a bridle. I had a saddle, but it was worn out and good for nothing except to torture me. This animal would frequently top me over his head of its own accord, but not being wild enough to gratify the malice of the Indians, the chief would sometimes shake the Mexican's scalp before its eyes. The beast would then rear and plunge in the utmost fright, and I would be thrown upon the ground with great violence. I have been tossed from the mule's back as many as half a dozen times a day, and once I was so stunned that I lay a considerable time before my senses returned. My repeated falls greatly amused the Indians, whose horrid peals of laughter might have been heard at a great distance.

I never saw them exhibit the first sign of pity toward me. It made no difference how badly I was hurt, if I did not rise immediately and mount the animal which had just thrown me, they would apply their riding whips, or gun-sticks, or the end of a lariat, to my unprotected body with the greatest violence. The squaw would also help me to rise by wounding me with the point of a spear which she carried.

I was obliged to work like a slave while in camp; while there was any service to perform I was not allowed a moment's rest. I was compelled to carry large loads of wood on my back, which, having destitute of sufficient clothing, was mangled till the blood ran down to my feet. I had to chase the animals through briars and bushes, till what little clothing I had was torn into ribbons. I brought the animals to camp in the morning, and had to watch them till they were ready to start, and if one, more wild than the rest, ran off, I must chase and bring him back, and then be knocked down by the savage chief for my want of skill. When all was ready to start, I had to catch and saddle my own wild mule without assistance. If the party did not start immediately, I was compelled to pull at the end of a lariat which the Indians would fasten to a bush. They seemed to study every method of putting me to death by piecemeal.

Exhausted by incessant toil and suffering, and extreme anguish from my wounds, I could not work as fast as the Indians desired, and often when scarcely able to stand, and hardly enduring what I was doing, I have been required to do the work of the strongest man. And instead of my inability to accomplish my task satisfactorily, I have been whipped till my flesh was raw. Large stones were thrown at me. I was knocked down and stamped upon by the ferocious chief, who seemed anxious to crush me like a worm

ing. When I raised the Indians made a tent of the blanket and wagon sheet that had stolen from me, but I was not allowed to take shelter in it—I preferred sleeping outside in the storm.

After my mule had become so gentle that I could ride it without being thrown, it was taken from me, and I was obliged to travel on foot.—The road over which we passed was often very rough and stony, and full of thorns. My feet were wounded and bruised till they were covered with blood, and greatly swollen. But still I was obliged to keep up with the rest of the party, and if I fell behind I was beaten till I was nearly senseless. The Indians often urged me on by attempting to ride their horses over me; many a mile of the road is marked with my blood, and many a hill there has echoed to my useless cries.

I travelled thus on foot somewhat six days. After the part were ready to start in the morning, the direction of the route was pointed out to me, and I was required to go before the others, in order not to hinder them. They usually overtook me before I travelled far. I had always intended to make an escape as soon as I found an opportunity. I never expected to reach any friendly settlement, but I did not wish to give the Indians the pleasure of seeing me die. On the morning of the 25th day after my capture, I was sent on in advance, as usual. I had eaten no food for days, and was very weak. But the hope of escape now supported me. I hastened on as fast as I could, and finding a suitable hiding place I turned aside and concealed myself in the bushes. After this I saw nothing more of my captors. I found afterwards by the tracks of the animals that they had searched for me, they probably thought I would die, and therefore took less trouble to find me. I am no doubt that the next time they pass that way they will look for my bones.

My situation was now distressing beyond all description. I was alone in an Indian country, some hundreds of miles from the nearest friendly settlements. I was without food, without shelter, and almost without clothing. My body was full of wounds and bruises, and my feet were so swollen that I could scarcely stand.—Wild beasts were around me, and savages, more wild than beasts, on my trail. Winter was coming on, and death in its most horrible forms stared me in the face. I sat down and thought of my lonely and exposed situation.—But I could not weep, my heart was too full of woe. I remembered the events of the few preceding weeks. My husband had been murdered, and I was not allowed the melancholy privilege of closing his eyes and seeing his remains decently interred. My little property had been stolen, and when, within a few days march of sympathizing friends, I was captured by savages, and after three weeks of indescribable suffering found myself wandering still captive in the midst of the wild prairies, my cup was filled to overflowing, but I resolved to live in hope if I died in despair.

After remaining three days in the place where I had concealed myself from the Indians I began to grope about a path upward and built a little house of branches and grass. Here I lived some days, my only food was the berries which grew on the bushes around. I gathered the fruit in apparent security. My wounds began to heal, and I was reduced to a mere skeleton for want of nourishment. It rained upon me as night succeeded night, and my little house was unable to protect me from the cold storm. My clothes, I spent a sleepless night, drenched in rain, and the winter, sometimes coming within five steps of me, would make me groan with their wintry howlings. They would take flow those behind me when I went to the spring during the day, I expected, some time, to be devoured by them, but they are great cowards and I could easily frighten them away.

When I slept I would dream of seeing tables spread with abundance of every kind of food that when I stretched forth my hand to satisfy the hunger, the effort awakened me, and I would weep bitterly.

When absent from my house on the twelfth day after my escape, some New Mexican traders passed by on their way to the Comanche settlement. While I was lying on a small hill, looking after them in order to be sure they were not Indians I was discovered by some three or four of the party who happened to be some distance behind. They immediately came towards me and soon understood my situation. They kindly offered to take me with them, and I gladly bade farewell to my home in the woods. The Mexicans cut upon a turro and gave me a blanket and some men's clothing in which I dressed myself very comfortably.

Two or three days after this, we came in sight of a band of Comanches, but as it was not best for me to be seen by them I was left here in a ravine, with the promise that the company would return for me at night. But as they did not fulfil their promise, I started on foot for the camp about midnight, while making my way through the bushes I became so weak within twenty steps. I thought it was a capture once more but fortunately, the savage did not see me. I threw myself on the ground and waited for day. In the morning, I started again for the camp of the Mexicans, but before I reached it I was discovered by one of trading party who was herding the animals. This man is a Pueblo Indian, of San Ildefonso, and is Juan Jose. To him more than to any other man in the party, I owe my present freedom.

He told me the camp was full of Comanches, and if they saw me it would be impossible for the party to save me. He made me lie down on the ground while he covered me with dried grass. I lay here all day, and at night crept forth to quench my almost intolerant thirst. Juan came and brought me some bread and told me not by any means to leave my hiding place the next day. The day dragged slowly along, and I could hear the dreaded Comanches passing and repassing and shouting to each other; at night Juan returned, bringing another blanket and several loaves of bread and told me that I must remain here seven or eight days longer, as the party were obliged to go further on and could not take me unless I was willing to become a captive once more. I saw the party disappear the next day, and it seemed as if my hopes of rescue disappointed with them. But I resolved to wait till the appointed time was up.

In a ravine near by I found a large log which had been lit burning, this I kept alive day and night till the Indians returned, and without it I should probably have frozen to death as the weather had become very cold. I found a hollow cottonwood stump with bark and leaves to keep out the wind. This stump was my house during my stay here. When could I leave the cold no longer, I would leave my house and run to the fire, but was afraid to stay there long lest the Indians should see me. The wolves soon found out my place of retreat, and frequently while I was in the stump they would come and scratch around on its top. The blackberries were very sparse, and had it not been for the bread Juan Jose gave me, I do not see how I could have been kept from starving to death.

The eight days passed slowly by, and I knew not whether to hope or give way to despair. But on the eighth I heard several persons calling to each other. I feared they were Indians but they belonged to the trading party, who were on their return to New Mexico. They had lost the place where I was concealed, and were shouting to attract my attention. I was so much overjoyed, that I rushed towards them unmindful of briars and sore feet. They gave me a fine horse to ride, and the whole party treated me with the utmost civility and kindness. On the 24th day of our return we reached New Mexico, we reached that town at Fesco. I saw Lieut Maj. Carlton, and Mr. Adams of the U. S. Army, who took the deepest interest in my comfort. Here I laid aside my gaunt apparel, and was furnished with a suit of my friend Mrs. A's wardrobe. After remaining at Fesco a few days, I was conducted to Santa Fe by the son of Gov. Meriwether.

To Gen. M. and also the American Indians of this place, cannot be to thankful for their friendly sympathies and uniform kindness.

The past seems like a horrid dream. I have related nothing but facts and no language that I can use can express the suffering of mind and body which I have endured. My two brothers in law are still captives, and unless ransomed will become as savage as the Indians. The Mexicans saw them with the Comanches, but were unable to procure their freedom—one is 12 years old, the other 10, and unless the strong arm of Government is lifted up for their redemption there is no hope for them.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican states that the narrative of which we have given a portion was taken from the lips of the sufferer, by Major Carleton. She was, at last accounts, with the family of Mr. Spencer, and is suffering much from the pains of premature labor, induced by the savage barbarities which have been inflicted upon her.

This correspondent also says, that he saw and two months previously conversed with, a young girl who made her escape from the same Indians, and was sent by Governor Meriwether to her parents in Chihuahua. Her family is respectable; he knows her father well.

She was made a captive near Chihuahua about a year since, and now returns to her family pregnant—the father of the unborn babe is a wild Indian. She told him that there were more captives among the Comanches than Indians themselves. This may readily be believed, when we know the fact that in their forays into Mexico and Western Texas, they murder the men and take the women and children captives. Imagination can hardly conceive what those poor women endure; and the children are reared to become more savage and barbarous than their captors.

SATURDAY, FEB. 1, 1854.

A SALUTE OF ONE HUNDRED GUNS!

A salute of one hundred guns will be fired in this city this day at high noon, in honor of the election of HON. WM. PITT FESSENDEN to the United States Senate, at Augusta, yesterday, by a concurrent vote of the House and Senate.

Election of William Pitt Fessenden United States Senator!

A telegram from Augusta yesterday afternoon brought to the gratifying intelligence of the election of Hon. William Pitt Fessenden United States Senator from Maine.

The "other step" has now been taken, and it shows that the result so longly and loudly sneered at by the Wildcat papers, that the election of Governor Crosby was a defeat to Fessenden, was a false position and has not been sustained. This result is in harmony with the action of the Whig party in Penobscot county for the last year. It proves the wisdom and propriety of the efforts of the friends of the Maine Law to make head against the Rum influence. It brings these friendly allies upon this point, though differing in other matters, where they have confidence in each other. We joy at his result, because it proves the fact that no political party can succeed in Maine that strays itself against the Maine Law. This is a fixed fact. A disregard of this has proved disastrous to the Wildcat politicians.

Mr. Fessenden the State will find a reliable, faithful representative. His voice and his vote will be given for the right, for the honor and welfare of the State, and the claims of liberty and humanity.

We have neither time nor space to-day for further remarks upon the auspicious results of the organization of the State and the election of Senator.

☞ The N. Y. Tribune states that there is a feeling among holders of flour in that city, that the price may probably recede rather than advance, before the "pinching time," when notes fall due. The poor have their pinching time now, and they will not sympathize very strongly with speculators, should the price happen to drop down a dollar or two below cost.

The Boston Traveller says the dealers in that city will be refuted to the necessity of receding from the prices which they have fixed upon flour as there are not less than 150,000 barrels now in store there.

The high price of flour and of provisions generally should serve as a strong stimulus to the young farmers to make the best preparations for active operations in the spring to put in the largest possible crops. It is safe for them to calculate that the high interest farming in Maine will give a good return or large and capital. In order to successful farming, that which shall be attractive and profitable, there must be the employment of capital as well as labor of skill and foresight, of calculation and enterprise.

Maine has a rich treasure in its agricultural resources, and its agriculture is slowly but regularly improving and by and by we may expect to see the good returns of the farms employed as an active capital in the improvement of the soil, the growing of fruit and in the production of those crops best adapted to the soil and climate.

Good land for farming may be purchased very cheaply in Maine, and if young men of right culture and true enterprise understood their true interest, they would apply themselves at once to the business of farming.

The Board of Agriculture of Maine have started the subject of a general system of agricultural education in the common schools of Maine. They have also asked of the State the appropriation of a portion of the public lands for the purpose of sustaining in each county the teaching of agricultural science in an academy or high school. In the common schools and the academies under this arrangement may be taught all those elementary and practical sciences intimately connected with agriculture, and farmers will be enabled to understand the how and the why of all their operations, and be able to adapt their means to the ends they wish to accomplish. If these plans can be carried out, the great art of agriculture will occupy a new and better position in the public mind, and will return a richer reward to those engaged in it. But farmers must not be discouraged, nor vexed, if the book asked for is not immediately granted. They need to talk over the matter, to discuss the propriety, necessity and justice of the State doing something for this great art. A strong public sentiment needs to be invoked, formed and matured and made potential. If the farmers in Maine really desire these improvements and go to work earnestly in their pursuit, they can have them. They ought to have them, and they will have them if they insist upon it as they should do. They should devise liberal things for their great art, with a confidence in this art, and a right intelligent and broad appreciation of its merits and its claims.

It is no use to expect that the claims of agriculture will be much regarded if farmers take a narrow view of the subject and pursue the business not in the love of it, and a just estimate of its importance and value, but with a discontented, snarling protest against farming.

The good anger days of narrow and shallow farming should be speedily done away, and a new, more energetic, more scientific, hopeful and attractive mode come into activity and generally prevail. Farming should keep up with the times, and with the discoveries in science, and be conducted in reference to well-known results, instead of each man carrying on his labor as an original experiment, as though no man had ever failed in the same course.

We expect to see a better day for farmers, and better farming, and the present period and passing events, seem to furnish an appropriate quickening of the energies in the right direction.

THE HORTICULTURIST AND JOURNAL OF RURAL ART AND RURAL TASTE. February, 1854. James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.

This elegant monthly Magazine for February has been received, and is a highly interesting and valuable number, well illustrated, practical and suggestive. Its opening article is upon the highly important subject of the rearing and management of trees, in which there is a mastery in the details of the business and a statement of facts and principles which could only come from one familiar with the subject by close practice. This is precisely such matter as the tree-setting and tree growing public greatly need.

Hon. Marshall P. Wilder has a high y interesting article giving the outlines and a pomological description of twenty varieties of Pears. Grapes and Grape Culture, Ornamental Gardening, Pruning, and various other matters make up the number, and we have rarely found matter of greater value.

Messrs. Patch & Lewis are the Banger agents for this work, and furnish the numbers with colored engravings at four dollars a year, and with plain engravings at two dollars a year.

ALCOHOL AND THE CONSTITUTION OF MAN.—New York: D. Appleton & Co.

We have received from E. F. Duren, a copy of one of the popular volumes issued from the press of the Messrs. Appleton. This volume contains a popular scientific account of the chemical history and properties of alcohol, and its leading effects upon the healthy human constitution. The subject is illustrated by a beautifully colored chemical chart. The author, Edward L. Youmans, is one of the most skillful chemists of the times, and he has brought all his great knowledge in this department to bear directly, and in a plain and popular and understandable manner upon the nature of alcohol and its influence upon the human constitution. It is a good book to read—a good one to study.

This work may be found at E. F. Duren's Bookstore near the Post-office.

☞ We received yesterday, from our friend Mr. Samuel Lowden, two hundred fresh White Fish, in fine order, brought by him from the State of Michigan. We have heard much of the fame of these fat and delicious fish, and now we have had the opportunity to test their excellent quality, and we certainly agree to all that has been said in their favor. These fish are caught in great quantities in some of the western lakes and are barrelled as the Cape Ann fishermen barrel mackerel. They are a much better fish than mackerel. If anything could tempt us to remove from New England it would probably be a handsome fruit farm on the borders of a beautiful lake in which these white fish abound.

☞ Mr. Raymond offers a capital entertainment to our people for Monday evening, at the City Hall. He comes here with a high reputation as a graceful and pleasing delineator of men and manners, with a fund of anecdote, song, gentle, wit and humor. His lectures are distinguished for their variety, their artistic merits, their fun and their pathos. Those who wish an evening's entertainment will not be disappointed, as Mr. Raymond has been successful on both sides of the Atlantic.

Anniversary of the Young Men's Bible Society.

The Anniversary of the Young Men's Bible Society will be holden to-morrow (Sabbath) evening at Union-street Church, (Unitarian), services to commence at seven o'clock. The report of the Society and addresses from Rev. Mark Trafton of Massachusetts and Bishop Hopkins of Vermont.

☞ Owing to the obstructions of the ice and the dangers of winter navigation the trips of the steamer Ocean have been discontinued between Boston and Frankfort. The steamer Boston, we hear, will be put upon the route in the month of March.

☞ The Committee of Arrangements of the Valentine Demonstration, are requested to meet at the office of John B. Godfrey, Esq., on this (Saturday) evening, at half past 7 o'clock.

Most all the appointments made by the President in Massachusetts, have been confirmed, with the exception of Hildreth, of Lowell, and Josselyn, of Salem. The Freesoil tendencies of these gentlemen seem to stand out too prominent for a Democratic Senate to confirm them. A letter from Washington states that the President has withdrawn their names, on account of the bad smell of abolitionism.—Democratic Advocate.

The editor of the Scientific American says that he has not heard of a single successful instance of preventing or arresting a fire by Phillips' Annihilator. The American always disbelieved the claims to utility for Mr. Phillips' Annihilator, as it has those put forth by Paine and Frierson.

From Salt Lake.

INDEPENDENCE, Jan. 31.

The Fort Laramie mail arrived at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. E. W. Allison, the conductor, brings the December mail from Salt Lake, the January mail not having reached Laramie on the night of the 19th of January. Mr. Allison encountered snow storms for six days; the animals belonging to the line all broke down.

Mr. Allison was much annoyed by the Cheyenne Indians on the way. They took all the bedding and provisions belonging to the mail company. The Sioux gave them provisions and were very friendly.

The Cheyennes and Sioux are turning out to make war on the Pawnees. Several skirmishes have taken place, and a number of Pawnees have been killed.

The Utah Indians still affirm that Capt. Gunnison and his party were taken for Mormons, because the Mormons had been skirmishing on their right to, and settling on their best lands.

The weather here is very pleasant.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8th

The London correspondent of the Herald, by letter dated 20th ultimo, states that despatches had been received of that date from Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburgh, affirming beyond question the fact that the Emperor Nicholas promptly rejected the mediation of the four powers.

The Barnstable Patriot gives an account of a severe snow storm on Sunday afternoon, accompanied with a heavy gale of wind and michaw cold. There was not a large quantity of snow, but it was drifted badly, and traveling was much impeded.

Two men by the name of Hicks and Crosby shot a Lump Cevier on Black Strap Hill, in Falmouth, a few days since. He measured from tip to tip five feet. From its appearance, there are supposed to be more of the same sort in the vicinity.—Portland Argus.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. Curtiss of this city, in the treatment of Consumption, Asthma and all diseases of the lungs. We refer to Dr. Curtiss's Hygeiana, or inhaling Hygeia Vapor and Cherry Syrup. With the new method Dr. C has restored many affected, to perfect health, as an evidence of which, he has the assemble certificates. Speaking of the treatment, a physician remarks—It is evident that inhaling—constantly breathing an agreeable vapor, the medicinal properties must come in direct contact with the whole of the mucous cavity of the lungs; and thus reach the entire and varied pathological products upon them when introduced into the stomach, and subjected to the process of digestion. The Hygeiana is for sale at all the druggists throughout the country.—[From the New York Dutchess of January 4th.

☞ "The Glory of Man and the Graceful Ornament of Woman."

☞ Who is there more glorious or more beautiful than to see a rich, luxuriant head of hair on either man or woman. And when those rich tresses on woman begin to decay by disease, how important that we have some preventive or cure! There are a thousand different preparations brought into use, purporting to prevent hair from falling off, or causing a new growth when the head has become bald, but all of little or no use, and very often injuring the diseased roots more than doing them good. But there is an article which has recently been discovered in New York, which WILL prevent hair from falling out, and is guaranteed to produce a good growth of Hair on heads that have become bald. We have one case in Boston of an elderly lady who has used it and who is willing to testify to the truth of the above. And to induce people to try it, the Wholesale Agent of Bangor offers for a reasonable sum to guarantee a good head of Hair on any one who will try it thoroughly, in three months time, or no charge for the article. Now cock one, come all, it costs you nothing to try it! The preparation is called HURD'S HAIR RESTORER. Read the following certificate from a gentleman well known in this city, as well as New York:

NEW YORK, Dec. 2, 1853.

Mr. Hurd—Dear Sir—I have been bald for the past five years, and as my father's and grandfather's family were bald at an early age, it was considered hereditary, and thought impossible to produce new hair on my head, and indeed every thing failed, until I was induced to use your Hair Restorer. I commenced using it about six weeks ago, and where my head was then bald it is now covered with a vigorous growth of new hair, and there is no doubt it will produce hair on any bald head.

Yours truly, C. FARAND,

Inspector's office, 207 Broadway.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For the rapid Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

Among the numerous discoveries Science has made in this generation to facilitate the business of life—increase its enjoyment, and even prolong the term of human existence, none can be named of more real value to mankind, than this celebration of Chemistry in the Healing Art. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this vast country, has proven beyond a doubt, that no medicine of combination of medicines yet known, can so mercifully control the varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midst thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now absolutely no reason to believe a Remedy has at length been found which can be relied on, to cure the most dangerous affections of the lungs. Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures effected by these, but we would present the following—and refer further enquiry to our American Almanac, which the agents below named will always be pleased to furnish free, who can give full particulars and indisputable proof of these statements.

Office of Transportation, Laurens R. R. S. C., Aug. 4, 1853.

J. C. Ayer, Dear Sir—My little son four years old has just recovered from a severe attack of Malignant Scarlet Fever, leaving as was reform, and every person that visited him pronounced him a dead child. He was used your Cherry Pectoral & Columbia, in the winter of 1850, for a severe attack of Bronchitis, with entire success. I was induced to try it on my little boy. I gave him a teaspoonful every three hours, commencing in the morning, and by ten o'clock at night I found a decided change in the better, and after three days use he was able to eat or drink without pain.

I use in the above named disease will save many a child from a premature grave, and relieve the anxiety of many a fond parent. For all affections of the Throat and Lungs I believe it the best medicine extant. A feeling of the deepest gratitude prompts me in addressing you these lines—but for your valuable discovery my little boy would now have been in a better world.

I am yours, with great respect, &c.,
J. D. POWELL, Supt. Trans., L. R. R.

Rock Hill, (Somerset Co.) N. J., July 21, 1843.

Dr. J. C. Ayer.—Since your medicine has become known, I have greater reason than any other cough remedy we have ever sold. It is spoken of in terms of unmixed praise by those who have used it, and I know of no much for the good it has done. I take pleasure in recommending it, because I know that I am giving my customers the worth of their money, and I feel good in selling the article to them.

Every and no a rather supply, and believe me
Yours, &c., respectfully, JOHN G. WHITLOCK

P. S. Almost any numbered certificates can be sent you, if you wish it.

MEDICATED INHALATION

A NEW METHOD.

A MOST WONDERFUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. CURTIS, in the cure of Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and all Lung complaints, by Medicated Inhalation. Dr. CURTISS' HYGEANA or INHALING HYGEAN VAPOR and CHERRY SYRUP, has accomplished the most wonderful cures of Asthma and Consumption, in the city of New York and vicinity for a few months past, ever known to made. It is producing a improvement in diseases of the Lungs never before attended by the medical profession. Hear for testimonies handed around.

The Inhaler is worn on the breast, under the bosom without the least inconvenience, the back of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid, supplying the lungs constantly with a healing and agreeable vapor, passing into all the cells and passages of the lungs, that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine. Here is a case of

ASTHMA CURED.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec 10, 1852.

For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the Asthma, for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in an chair. My difficulty of breathing, and my sufferings, were so great at times, that for hours together my friends expected each hour would be my last. During the past six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most celebrated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit and but little relief. At length hail the gratitude to prepare Dr. Curtis's Hygeana or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. At the time I first obtained it, I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great fear, almost suffocating for want of breath. I received the medicine from the time I applied the Inhaler to my stomach, and took a teaspoonful of the Cherry Syrup, I was relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. God only knows the amount of suffering this medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the suffering is, try it.

MARGARET EASTON.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27th, 1853.

I came to New York in the ship Telegraph, my native place is St. John, New Brunswick; when I reached this city my health was very poor, had a bad cough, raised a good deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood, had pain in my left side, and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physicians pronounced my case Consumption, and felt out the touch of medicine accidentally heard of Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a package, which I verily believe was the means of saving my life. Soon after wearing the Inhaler I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the surface under the Inhaler. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better, I did it entirely left me, and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler, as the use of it is rather pleasant, and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling at present to dispense with it.

Opinions of the Religious Press

HENRY WARD BEECHER, in the New York Independent, says—"Let it spread—say its numbers be as plenty as the leaves in Vallombrosa. May thousands of days under its shadow with delight, and rise up refreshed one made kind and better men. And may Solon Robinson live to write a hundred books to push each other down the stairs."

The N. Y. Evangelist, a leading Presbyterian paper, says of these stories—"They evince a dramatic skill worthy of Dickens, and powerfully appeal in behalf of the poor, vicious and down-trodden, on grounds which sound Christian morality and feeling cannot but approve of. Any thing more touching than The Little Hot Corn Girl, or indeed than most of these transcripts from the terrible realities of life, we have seldom encountered."

From the Methodist Protestant, Baltimore, Md.—"No man can read it who has a spark of philanthropy in his bosom without feeling a strong desire to do something for the poor and wretched, to look with more compassionate glance upon the outcasts from society, and especially to seek to remove from the atmosphere of vice, those helpless and innocent children who are born to sin and nurtured in iniquity."

From the Religious Recorder, Syracuse, N. Y.—"Let the volume be read."

From the Religious Herald, Hartford, Conn.—"A great and good work will be the consolation of his book effect."

THE GREATEST

MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE!

MR. RENNEFRY, of Liverpool, has discovered a compound of some native plants, which cures every kind of humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over six hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, both thunder humor. Persons who may be possessed of over two hundred certificates of the cure, within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a terrible sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will clear the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humors in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches about the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure barrel and running ears.

One bottle will cure scal eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of the tetter.

Three or four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottle will cure the very worst case of scrofula.

A benefit always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so inhuman in those who have in vain tried all the wind rub medicines of the day, as that a common weed growing on the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system; yet it is now a fixed fact. It can have a humor of 30 to start. There are many sore legs, humors, &c., of 30 years standing, some as low, but not years. I speak of over a thousand testimonials from the vicinity of Boston. I know this of week, if it in every case. It has already done some of the greatest cures ever done in Massachusetts. I gave it to children 2 years old, to children of 8 years old, to the people of this city. I have seen poor, puny, weak looking children, whose flesh was soft and flabby, restored to a perfect state of health by one bottle.

To those who are subject to a sick headache one bottle will always cure it. It gives great relief in catarrh and dizziness. Some who have tried it have been cured for years and have been regulated by it. Where the body is sound it works quite easy but where there is any derangement of the functions of nature, it causes very singular feelings, but no one must be alarmed—they will always disappear in from five days to a week. There is never a bad result from it—on the contrary, when that feeling is gone you will feel yourself to be a new person. There is a name of the most extraordinary concurrence that ever was listened to.

TESTIMONIALS.

The following certificate from Dr. John C. Warren of Boston, was given 17 years since, but will not forever.

BOSTON, Jan. 5, 1853.

Having had occasion to observe the benefit resulting to persons who have suffered much from the want of a skillful work man in the making of Trusses to the peculiarities of the case, I have taken pains to inform myself of the improvements of Mr. J. F. Foster in supplying deficiencies occasioned by the death of Mr. Smith—Since my attention was called to the subject, I am well satisfied that Mr. Foster is well qualified with the manufacture of these instruments, and ingenious in accommodating to the variety of cases which occur. I feel called upon to recommend him to my professional brethren, and to the public as a person well fitted to supply their wants in regard to these important articles.

JOHN C. WARREN, M. D.

The undersigned Lake great pleasure in recommending to the inventive genius and skill of Mr. James Foster, as a skillful and competent person in the manufacture and fitting of Trusses. We have employed him (some of us for very many years) and thereby speak from personal knowledge of his abilities. He early adopted the principle of the long curve in the business, and by a large number of individuals whom he has relieved in a variety of cases, render him a boon equal, if not superior to any instrument in use of the article. Dr. Luther Dana, late of Fryeburg, Mr. Foster's master of the business in Boston, Dr. Ingalls, late of Gilmanton, Dr. Fitch, late of Boston, Dr. Chapin, late of Boston, Dr. Cutler, late of Boston
